ALARMS.

Immediately on the discovery of a fire, a general alarm will be rung upon all the bells as usual, except upon the two bells having the alarm attached. Upon these bells (the Union and St. Stephen's) will be struck, by persons appointed for that purpose, the number of the district in which the fire may be located, and this to be repeated, with a short intermission, as many times as circumstances may require.

In order to still further perfect the plan of the Committee, the persons discovering a fire are requested to locate it, by crying the number of the district and name of the street where the fire may be burning, and this cry to be repeated by firemen and others as they may hear it.

GROWTH OF PORTLAND.

Since the commencemet of the Grand Trunk Railway which connects our city with the principal cities of Canada, there has been a marked increase in our population and taxable property.

The population of the city in 1790, was 2,240; in 1800, 3,704; in 1810, 7,169; in 1820, 8,581; in 1830, 12,601; in 1840, 15,218; in 1850, 20,815.

The last census, (taken in the summer of 1854) made the population 25,418. The ratio of increase during the last four years, owing to the business depression which has affected us in common with all the commercial cities of the Union, has not been so great as during the previous four years. At present, an estimate based on the returns of the Assessors as to the male adults, would make the population about 28,000.

The valuation of the city in 1857, was

Real Estate,	$12,617,929
Personal Estate,	9,755,800
Total,		$22,373,729

The various places of worship in the city, in the aggregate, can probably seat about twelve thousand persons.

Four new churches have been erected since the commencement of 1856, viz: the Union (Trinitarian); Congregational at an expense of $25,000; the Chestnut St. Methodist Episcopal, at an expense of nearly $40,000; the St. Lawrence Street (Trinitarian) Congregational Chapel, and the Church of the Immaculate Conception.

Within the same time the Free Street Baptist Church has been remodeled and furnished with new towers at an expense of $10,000, and the St. Stephen's Episcopal Church has undergone improvements of a similar character, at about the same expense.

The foundations of a new Roman Catholic Church of large dimensions have been laid near the site of that of the Immaculate Conception.

St. Luke's, Episcopal Church, was built in 1855.

The State Street (Trinitarian) Congregational, and Congress Street Methodist Churches, and Preble Street Chapel were buil in 1851.

LOCATION OF PORTLAND.

We find ourselves on a peninsula, projected into a beautiful bay (Casco) which sweeps along the shore for thirty miles, protected by numerous fertile islands, indented by convenient inlets for ship building and navigation, and affording safe anchorage for the navy of the world. Our harbor, and the main approach to it, are scooped out by the Almighty hand from the solid rock, which furnishes a secure barrier against the wash and invasion of the sea. The inland harbor is safe and easy of access for the largest class of vessels, and when reached, they may ride there in security. We lie on the margin of the open sea, and as it were at the base of the loftiest mountains on the Atlantic coast, which elevate their gigantic forms in full view.

These natural beauties and advantages made this locality the place of resort for the earliest adventurers from the old world to the new. Here they planted themselves two centuries and a quarter ago; and maintained for a century, a stern and doubtful conflict with the aborigines and their allies, the French, for possession of this wide and beautiful territory; most fortunately for the cause of civilization, it became after desperate struggles, the inheritance of the Saxon race.

This race is now in quiet possession, and is bound by every inducement and principle, to maintain and improve it. What has already been done is matter of history. We have stretched forth our facilities of communication, in the most improved and substantial form, to the extensive and valuable provinces of the British Empire, lying upon our north, and thence on and still on, to our distant prairies and cities lying in the vast valley of the Mississippi, with a prospect at no distant day, of reaching the great ocean of the West. Seaward, we hold direct communication with our Anglo-Saxon brethren of Great Britain, and all other portions of the old World. Our commerce visits all ports, our sails whiten every sea.

[The foregoing we extract from Mayor Willis's recent report.]

The scenery of the city and vicinage is remarkable for its diversified picturesque attractions. The English traveler Latrobe and many other writers have expressed themselves enthusiastically on this point.

The land on which the city is built rises gradually from the water side, so that the roofs and cupolas of most of the buildings are in sight at a single view, and the appearance of the city on entering the harbor by the ship channel, is imposing and beautiful in the extreme, suggesting the idea of a city of thrice its actual extent. From Cape Elizabeth and from the Westbrook side of "Back Cove," the city also shows to fine effect.

The extensive views from the summit of the hill at the North-Eastern extremity of the city deserve the attention of the visitor, as also those from the summit of Bramhall's Hill, at the western extremity; but the most commanding views may be obtained from the tall tower known as the Observatory, in the eastern quarter of the city. Here the whole region round about lies mapped out to the beholder—Casco Bay with its green islands, the ocean dashing against the rocky barriers of Cape Elizabeth, the harbor with its shipping and the forts which command its entrance, the village of Cape Elizabeth, the whole city, every roof and spire, and the numerous towns, ridges, and streams of the interior, sweeping away to the base of the White Mountains, eighty miles distant. An excellent telescope is mounted in the cupola.

At either extremity of Portland is a promenade one hundred and fifty feet in width, lined with young and thrifty shade trees. These promenades are graded into three sections, two for walking, and the other for riding, and the succession of views developed in passing around them is scarcely less beautiful than from the observatory.

Portland has its historic fame. Not only was it often the scene of desperate strife between the settlers and the Indians and French, in the early occupancy of the country, during which it was twice destroyed, but on the 18th of October, 1775, it was bombarded by an English fleet under the command of Capt. Mowatt, and laid in ashes.

On the fifth of September, 1813, was fought off the harbor the sanguinary engagement between the British man-of-war brig Boxer and the American brig Enterprise, which resulted in the capture of the former, not, however, without fearful carnage, Capt. Blythe of the Boxer, and the American captain Burroughs, being both killed during the action. Their remains lie side by side in the Eastern cemetery, surmounted by substantial monuments, that of Blythe erected by his surviving officers, and the other by "a passing stranger."

In the same burial place rest the remains of Commodore Edward Preble, who commanded the American squadron during the gallant operations which resulted in the reduction of Tripoli in 1804.

The drives in the vicinity worthy of attention are numerous, among which may be mentioned as particularly interesting the road round Back Cove, the road to the Farm School, that to Evergreen Cemetery, and those to Cape Cottage, the Ocean House, the Atlantic House, and Prout's Neck, as also the Promenades.

In summer the delightful resorts of the Islands are much visited by boating parties, particularly "Diamond" and "Pleasant" Coves, White Head, and the watering places at Peak's Island; small steamers and numerous sailing craft are constantly passing to and fro.

The Distances to some of the pleasure resorts, from the head of Free street, are as follows:

WARD No. 7, comprising all the territory in the city to the west of the above named lines of Ward No. 6.

MORTALITY.

Among the many recommendations of our city, its healthfulness is not the least important. The social advantages which cities possess over the country, are often overbalanced by their destructiveness of health. In this respect, Portland compares most favorably with other cities.

The deaths in Portland during the year ending with March 31, 1858, were 653, being 1 to every 44 inhabitants.

The deaths in other cities are as follows :

Manchester,	1 in 29	Baltimore,	1 in 35.4
Boston,	1 in 32	Leghorn,	1 in 35
London,	1 in 40	Berlin,	1 in 34
New York,	1 in 34	Paris,	1 in 32
St. Petersburgh,	1 in 37	Palermo,	1 in 31
Charleston,	1 in 36	Madrid,	1 in 29
Liverpool,	1 in 29	Naples,	1 in 28
Brussels,	1 in 26	Rome,	1 in 25

The increase of mortality has been much larger than can be accounted for by the increase of inhabitants. Fifteen years ago the deaths did not exceed 1 in 70. It is mainly to be attributed to the great influx of foreigners (consequent on the construction of our railroads) who are not so careful to preserve health as the native population, and among whom the mortality is very great.

The following table shows the diseases prevalent, and the number of deaths attributed to each disease for the last municipal year (1857–8.)

MARRIAGES.

The number of intentions of marriage entered at the City Clerk's office during the year 1856–7, was 383. The number for 1855-6 was 390.

The number entered during the year 1857–8, was 228. During this year many couples went out of the State to get married, in preference to complying with the law in force during the year, requiring intentions of marriage to be published three weeks before the marriage ceremony could be consummated.

METEOROLOGICAL STATISTICS.

The average temperature for the last thirty-two years, as indicated by the thermometer, on the mean of observations taken morning, noon, and night each day in the year, is 43 deg., 23 min., Fahrenheit.

The highest mark which the mercury has reached in the shade, during the time specified, is 100 deg., 5 min.; the lowest, Jan. 24th, 1857, is 25 deg. below zero.

The average temperature of each month in the year, for the last thirty-two years, on the mean of three daily observations, is,—

January 18.90	July 66.22
February 21.41	August 64.60
March 30.03	September 57.78
April 40.27	October 46.30
May 49.65	November 36.11
June 60.33	December 24.50

The highest mean temperature for any one month for thirty-two years was for the month of July, 1825, when it reached 71 deg. The lowest mean temperature for any month for thirty-two years was for the month of January, 1844, 13 deg.

The mean height of the barometer at a station 87.5 feet above the mean level of the sea, for 1856 and 1857 was 29.848.

Rain or snow fell in 1856 on 140 days; in 1857 on 154 days.

The amount of snow on a level in 1856 was 28 inches; in 1857, 61.7 inches.

The amount of water which fell on a level in rain and snow from May 19th, 1856, to Jan. 1st, 1857, was 30.6 inches; from Jan. 1857 to Jan. 1858 was 47.664 inches.

The prevailing winds in 1856 and 1857 blew from the different points in the following percentage: between North and East, 24 8-15ths; East and South, 14; South and West, 25 8-15ths; West and North, 35 14-15ths.

BUSINESS CORPORATIONS.

The total amount paid for salaries, office rent, fuel, &c., since the organization of the company, is	18,505 38 or about $600 a year.

All policies are renewed free of expense, after running six years; and notwithstanding this arrangement the total amount of losses of the company by fire since its organization, has not exceeded the interest received on its cash funds! And the company have now in possession ninety-five cents for every dollar of cash paid in, since its organization.

Office, 102 Middle Street.

PORTLAND STEAM PACKET COMPANY.

Organized under Act of Incorporation, in 1844. Their object was to establish a line of Steamers between this city and Boston. The Company have built several boats, and at present own three, the "Montreal," 945 22–95ths tons burden, built in 1857; the "Lewiston," 900 68–95ths tons, built in 1856; and the "Forest City," 869 13–95ths tons, built in 1854. These were all built under the immediate supervision of the Company's experienced Agent, Capt. J. B. Coyle, expressly for their sea route, and more substantial boats, probably, do not float upon the water, while in point of fittings and finish, they will compare favorably with the best.

Capital stock, $200,000.

NEW YORK STEAM NAVIGATION COMPANY.

This Company run the new, staunchly built and handsome propeller "Chesapeake," which on an average makes the passage in thirty hours. The accommodations for passengers are commodious and tastefully fitted up, and in summer time this mode of transit to and from the great Metropolis, is preferable on some accounts, to any other. This steamer leaves Portland every Saturday afternoon, at 4 o'clock; fare, meals included, $5.

Emery & Fox, Brown's Wharf, Agents.

PORTLAND COMPANY.

Incorporated August 8, 1846. Its object is the manufacture of Railroad Cars, Locomotives, and Machinery of various descriptions, mostly connected with the requirements of Railroads.

Its works are located on made-land, on the harbor side of the city, near the entrance of the Eastern Promenade and adjoining the bridge of the Atlantic and St. Lawrence Railroad, with which they are connected by a branch bridge, and cars may be run directly from the works of the Company into the Railroad Depot. Capital stock $250,000.

The work turned out from this establishment has gone to every part of our country, and bears a high reputation for its strength, durability and superiority of finish.

John Sparrow, Superintendent.

PORTLAND GAS LIGHT COMPANY.

Incorporated in 1849, and organized January 1, 1850. The works of the Company are at "Clark's Point," near the outlet of the Cumberland and Oxford Canal. Their gas mains have been extended through the principal streets of the city.

Capital stock, $200,000, of which the city owns one-half.

PORTLAND SUGAR HOUSE.

This establishment was for several years under the management of a single individual, J. B. Brown, Esq., but a Company was incorporated, Feb. 28, 1855, by whom it is now carried on. It is one of the chief objects of business interest in our city, both from the magnitude of the buildings comprised under the name, and the extent of the works carried on within.

The business carried on is the manufacture of sugars from molasses imported from the West Indies. These sugars are remarkably clean, and will otherwise compare favorably with the various styles of brown sugars in the market.

Machinery for refining sugars is likewise connected with the establishment. The works are situated on Commercial, York and Maple streets. The first building was erected in 1845.—About one hundred and fifty hands are employed in the various departments, and the average amount of sugars produced is not far from two hundred and fifty barrels per day. About twenty-five thousand hogsheads of molasses are thus used up in a year, and the amount of business done is probably rising one and a half million dollars annually. Capital, $300,000.

J. B. BROWN, President.

J. B. BROWN,
J. B. CAHOON,
S. J. SMITH,
P. H. BROWN,
E. M. LEAVITT, } Directors.

JAMES B. CAHOON, Treasurer. D. H. FURBISH, Manager.

J. B. BROWN & SON, Agents.

CUMBERLAND AND OXFORD CANAL.

This Canal extends from Portland, near the commencement of Clark Street to Sebago Lake, a distance of twenty miles. It was finished in 1829, at a cost of $211,000. Sebago is united with Long Pond by Songo River and Brandy Pond, and a water communication is thus furnished with the interior, of more than fifty miles. The Canal passes through the towns of Westbrook, Gorham, Windham and Standish; and during the boating season an extensive business in lumber, cord wood, &c., is done with these places, and the flourishing towns bordering on the connecting lake and the ponds above.

The scenery along the Canal, and throughout the whole extent of this water communication, is highly diversified and picturesque.

CASCO IRON COMPANY.

Incorporated in March, 1854. The works of this Company are located at the mouth of Presumpscot River, about two miles from the city, contiguous to the Grand Trunk Railroad, and having wharf and water facilities for the accommodation of the largest vessels. The buildings are large and roomy, and furnished with machinery of the most approved plans, for all kinds of heavy as well as smaller forgings. Capital stock, $250,000.

JOHN SPARROW, President. JAMES L. FARMER, Agent and Treasurer.

RAIL ROADS.

The lines of Rail Road, connected with the business and travel of this city, are as follows:

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY, PORTLAND DISTRICT, OR ATLANTIC AND ST. LAWRENCE RAIL ROAD.

This enterprise is by far the most important that has ever engaged the attention of the people of this section. It is a division of the great line which connects Portland with Montreal and Quebec, thereby furnishing the latter places with a NEW PORT OF ENTRY; a port among the most safe, convenient, and easy of access connected with the American continent; and on the other hand, opening to the people of Portland and of the State, a direct channel to the vast grain growing regions of the West.

On the part of Maine, a charter was granted February 10th, 1845—title as above—Capital Stock $5,000,000; and the charter of so much of the route as traverses the provinces of Lower Canada, was obtained from the Canadian Parliament, March 17th, 1845, title St. Lawrence and Atlantic Railroad,—Capital Stock £600,000.

The Company of the MAINE portion of the route was organized September 25th, 1845. The ceremony of breaking ground was observed on the 4th of July, 1846; the site, a dilapidated bastion at the Eastern point of Munjoy's Neck, known as Fort Lawrence, all vestiges of which have disappeared in the changes and improvements which have been made in that section. The road was opened to Montreal, July 18th, 1853, and to Quebec, Nov. 22d, 1854. The portion from Portland to Island Pond has since been permanently leased to the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada, and is now known as the Portland District of the Grand Trunk Railway. The whole road is built of an elevation sufficient to prevent obstruction from snow and ice, the gauge is 5 feet 6 inches in the clear between the rails; and the rails are laid with the view to a double track.

SOCIETIES AND ASSOCIATIONS.

Among the Societies of a Charitable character in Portland, the following are the principal, viz:

MAINE CHARITABLE MECHANIC ASSOCIATION.

Incorporated June 14, 1815 — head quarters at Mechanics' Hall, corner of Congress and Elm streets.

The design of this Association is to encourage and promote the Mechanic Arts, to relieve members, and the widows and orphans of deceased members, when in need.

It possesses a valuable Library of nearly 3,000 volumes.—Through its kindly offices it has done much to enhance the respectability and intelligence of the Mechanics of this city.

The Association in 1856 purchased an eligible lot of land on the corner of Congress and Casco Streets, for the purpose of erecting a building for its accommodation. The price paid for the land was $6,000. The building, which has already been commenced, and which is to be fronted with cut granite, will be one of the handsomest in the city — estimated cost about $30,000. The corner stone was laid Oct. 22, 1857.
